

Contents

List of Figures vii

List of Tables ix

Notes for Readers xi

Maps xiii

1. Introduction: Understanding Early Modern Colonialism in Asia and the Pacific 1
María Cruz Berrocal and Cheng-hwa Tsang
2. Historiographical Absences and Archaeological Consequences: The Early Modern European Journeys in the Pacific 10
María Cruz Berrocal
3. The Abandonment of Alofi Island (Western Polynesia) before Missionary Times: A Consequence of Early European Contact? 33
Christophe Sand
4. When "Early" Modern Colonialism Comes Late: Historical Archaeology in Vanuatu 57
James L. Flexner and Matthew Spriggs
5. From First Encounters to Sustained Engagement and Alienation: European and ni-Vanuatu Contact from 1774 to 1915, Port Sandwich, Malakula, Vanuatu, Southwest Pacific 92
Stuart Bedford, Marcellin Abong, Richard Shing, and Frédérique Valentin
6. "Great Powers" in the Pacific Islands: A Calibrated Comparison of Spanish and Anglo-American Colonialism 123
James M. Bayman
7. Spain in the Mariana Islands, 1521–1898 146
Frank J. Quimby

8. The Archaeological Remains of Early Modern Spanish Colonialism on Guam and Their Implications 195
Boyd Dixon, Andrea Jalandoni, and Cacilie Craft
9. Jesuit Missionary Work in the Mariana Islands (1668–1769) 219
Alexandre Coello de la Rosa
10. Island Taiwan in the Seventeenth Century: A Historiographical Overview 244
Ann Heylen
11. Encountering the Wider World before the Transition to History: Chinese Ceramics in Proto-historic Taiwan (Tenth through Sixteenth Centuries) 270
Yi-chang Liu and Su-chin Wang

List of Contributors 313

Index 317